"Abie's Irish Rose"

With Jean Hersholt, Charles Rogers and Nancy Carroll.

The play that Broadway couldn't get enough of in five years now comes to the Champion screen. Abie and Rosemary, old Solomon Levy and Patrick Murphy, Rabbi Samuels and Father Whalen—all the lovable characters which made to make the play the most phenomenal success of Modern times—are here in the motion picture. Here also is a story that fairly bristles with drama, heart interest and comedy. Presented by a cast of real popular favorites. The millions who saw "Abie's Irish Rose" on the stage are going to renew acquaintances with the handsome Jewish lad and lovely Irish lass on the screen in what is perhaps the sweetest love story ever told.

Curling Meeting Monday, Nov. 3

A meeting of the curling club, largely for the purpose of sun-drying the formation of the rink for the season's play, will be held in F. J. Clapp's store on Monday evening, at 8 p.m. Present indications are that twelve rinks will be secured this year and prospects are favorable for one of the best year's play in the history of the club. A general turnout is requested as other business of importance will likely be discussed.

Chicken Day In Champion

The annual chicken buying day at the Champion Meat Market is advertised for Tuesday, November 11th. This opportunity of marketing live birds has been very popular in the past as the poultry is weighed and graded in the presence of the seller, and the cash paid on the spot. For further particulars see Mr. Gill at his shop.

Will Be Many Curling Rinks

According to the facts available a considerable number of rinks have already been formed for curling this winter and a goodly number more will be ready to report on November 3rd. The plan of allowing anyone desiring to do so to form a rink is evidently working out well.

After living for some time at Chinook, Alberta, they removed to Lacombe and settled on a farm a few miles east of town. Funeral services were held at St. Andrew's United Church, Monday evening. Dr. William Hollingsworth, preached the funeral sermon. Interment will take place at Morrisburg, Ontario.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

It is understood the council will take steps to curb some objectionable ballroom practices this year. Such action will commend itself to the large majority of citizens. The harmless pranks and tricks indulged in are accepted as justified by the occasion but when real property damage is involved there is no possible justification in permitting its continuance. Residents here have been long suffering in this respect and will welcome a change which forces the omission of the rough stuff.

Prominent English papers compare the gangland wars in the cities of the United States to the situation in China, where brigandage flourishes, and in some instances give the Chinese bandit the benefit of the doubt as to general character. Canada is interested in the control of lawlessness across the line simply because close contact with the States means that some of the effects of gangland strife is likely to leak across the border.

It used to be the practice, in opening new stretches of highway, for some municipal or provincial official to sever a silk cord at the same time declaring the new road open for traffic. This procedure is likely to be discontinued if the example set recently in western Canada is widely copied. On that occasion one of Manitoba's main highways and one of Saskatchewan's trunk roads were joined and opened for traffic with a gesture which was at least intensely practical even if left formal. The minister of highways for Saskatchewan and the minister of public works for Manitoba, in their shirt sleeves, shovelled the last of the gravel up to the boundary on each side, thus technically completing the junction and another important link in interprovincial transportation history—Automotive World.

Premier Bennett's suggestion of a preferential tariff in favor of Canadian wheat in exchange for a preferential tariff on English goods does not seem to meet with much favor from the present labor government, and there seems to be no hope of its adoption.

According to the Searle grain report the total shipments this season from Russia have totalled 29,992,000 bushels, and with anticipated further shipments the total will be millions below the figures for 1913, when a total of 173,000,000 bushels were exported from Russia. Russia is credited with now having 48,000,000 more wheat available for export this year, making a total of 73,000 bushels for the crop year. It would appear from these figures that the Russian hokey has been used to the limit in depressing the price of wheat.

Certainly we cannot help thinking any more than we can help breathing, but, just as we can choose to breathe pure air in a pine wood on a high hill, we can place our mind where the images it will work upon will be of a higher nature, says Ernest Dimment. We may have many friends and many occupations which fill our days, but no man can escape living to some extent within his own mind. It is the thoughts we have when we are alone and thrown upon our own resources for our amusement that largely determine the kind of man we are likely to become. First, we make our thoughts; then they make us.—Contact.

Why you should buy a
Majestic
RADIO

A NEW Majestic Electric Radio actually costs you less to own and operate than many sets being offered at special bargain prices. First, because while you may buy some radio sets for less, the depreciation, service, performance and trade-in value wipe out this mythical saving and more before a season has passed.

Most people now buy radios on time, so the purchase of a Majestic means but a few dollars more outlay at the time of purchase and a few more monthly payments. At the end of that time the value of the Majestic as a "trade-in" is definite and sure. There is always a demand for used Majestics, whereas the loss you will take on nameless "stencils" or "specials" or cheap radios built to a price makes your original purchase an expensive one.

Majestic is the largest manufacturer of complete radio receiving sets in the world. It is fathered in Canada by the Rogers-Majestic Corporation Limited—the largest radio manufacturers in the British Empire. Were it not for this tremendous output Majestic prices would be 10% to 25% higher, if the same quality were maintained. Due to this enormous production Majestic prices are as low as most radios of much cheaper construction. Thus, every Majestic is really a bargain—extraordinary value for your money.

Administration Of Lands And Other Resources Of The West Passes Under Provincial Control

The present year terminates the administration by the Dominion Government of the lands and other resources of the three Prairie provinces, and of the areas in British Columbia known as the Peace River Block and the Halfway Belt. These resources now pass under provincial control.

One of the notable changes involved

ed is that the historic Dominion home stead policy now gives way to such land policies as may be framed by the several provinces concerned. For nearly sixty years the Peace River system has played a cardinal role in the disposal of lands, and in the advent of Canadian development. Since 1900 nearly 600,000 homestead entries have been made, and while many of these were never completed the magnitude of this land business may be judged from the fact that the entries represented at 160 acres each, nearly 100,000,000 acres of land. As the accompanying diagram shows, homestead activity reached its peak in the three or four years immediately preceding the War. While the last two years have brought a decided slump in the number of entries,

A New Yorker On Canada

Points Out Several Points Of Superiority Over U.S.

Charles Johnston, who is one of the most scholarly of New York reviewers, contributes an article to the New York Times Book Review on the Canadian history volumes on Canada and Newfoundland. He gathers from "this admirable historical study" that the Canadian view of American affairs "has a certain definite atmosphere, which, may, perhaps, be described as modest superiority. Not that there is any boasting. The points of superiority simply emerge in passing. For example, we set some store by the year 1492, underlining its significance by an annual holiday. The Canadian date is 1472, when John Sculp the Dane, reached Canadian territory in the region of Labrador. We commemorate the founding of Jamestown in 1607, and of the Pilgrim State in 1620. But the year 1534 marks "the birth of Canada." Again we celebrate July 4, but here also, Canada outstrips us, for July 3 is the birthday of Quebec, in the year 1608. Finally the fact slips out that the area of Canada is greater not only than that of the United States including its dependency Alaska—incidentally it may be asked also greater than France, the largest country in the Western Hemisphere.

Canadian "Pinguos"

Small Fresh Water Lakes Form Along Coast Of Arctic Ocean

Pinguos are conical and or gravel hills which rise sometimes as high as 100 feet above the swampy ground skirting the shore of the Arctic Ocean, particularly that part of the coast eastward from the Mackenzie River to Cape Bathurst in the Northwest territories of Canada. The summits are hollowed out like a crater, and always contain a small lake of fresh water. As all the lakes in the vicinity are more or less leaky the natives have been known to walk long distances to get their drinking water from the pinguos. The origin of these hills remains an unsolved puzzle.

A recent wildlife census indicates that more than a million game animals live in the national forests of this country.

Reinsurance For Wheat Growers Of Canada

No Cause For Fretfulness Says Well-Informed Bank Official

There is reinsurance for Canadian wheat growers, and, therefore, for the whole of Canada, in the review of the world market conditions given in the Toronto Mail and Empire by Mr. R. P. Alley, assistant general manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. As Mr. Alley has charge of the bank's business throughout western Canada, and as he must, therefore, be specially well-informed regarding the wheat export trade, his remarks upon the existing situation may be accepted as authoritative. Without presuming to speak dogmatically, he points out several influential factors in the marketing developments of recent months. One of these factors is that the high prices which prevailed for wheat not so long ago induced an over-production of that commodity throughout the world. It brought into the field countries where the cost of production is high, and which cannot profitably produce wheat for sale at normal quotations. Another thing is that in spite of prices so high that they discourage countries, Canada last year sold more than the year's entire crop. Marketing prospects have improved in the importing countries of Europe and also in Japan and China. Nor is Russia likely soon to be a competitor in Liverpool or anywhere else, as some people have seemed to fear. The year's Canadian crop is considerably larger than last year's and it is of a particularly high quality. This means that, other things being equal and prices being as low as they are, Canadian wheat should take the lead on all buying markets from this time forward. All things considered, therefore, there seems to be every reason for hoping that a few months hence Canada may be back on the world's main street, exporting more wheat and wheat flour than any other nation on earth. Toronto Mail and Empire.

the post-war period, generally speaking, has witnessed only a moderate degree of homesteading activity. The rise and fall of homestead entries illustrates that for the Department of the Interior that it was fifteen or twenty years ago.

Disturbing Nature's Balance

Disastrous Results Often Follow the Introduction Of Exotic Animals To Animals From Foreign Climes

A scientist of the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia brings from the West Indies an account of another of the many recorded instances of the unfortunate results of the man's interference with the "balance of nature." Monkeys, the offspring of animals supposed to have been liberated by sailors or slave traders many years ago and the mongoose, brought from India to cope with an excess of rats and snakes, are both said to have preyed to such an extent upon the birds and their nests that certain species of the birds have been virtually exterminated or driven to other localities.

One of the best known instances of the disastrous results of the artificial upset of the balance of nature is found in the rabbit pest in Australia and New Zealand. These animals, introduced originally for food or for sport, have increased to such an extent that great sums have been spent in a vain effort to eradicate them. Such occurrences justify the skepticism that is always voiced when insects or animals are introduced from one clime to cope with pests. There is always the peril of creating a new and more serious pest.—New York Evening Post.

New Machinery Needed

Development Of Flax and Hemp Making Machinery Offers Opportunity

In handling crops such as flax and hemp when so much labour is involved, the need of new machinery that will lower the cost of production can not be overemphasized, observes the Fibre Specialist at the Dominion Department of Agriculture, in his annual report. Special attention is now being given to the processing of flax and hemp at the present time, and it is expected that some way of speeding up production in Scotland and retting will soon be found. The development of flax and hemp working machinery provides one of the greatest opportunities to Canadian enterprise at the present time.

Conscience Wakes Up

It is not only evaders of income tax who sometimes become conscience-stricken and make restitution after the lapse of a long period of time. Siam Will Exhibit Rice

Best Varieties Will Be Sent To World's Grain Exhibition

Announcement has been made from the office of the World's Grain Exhibition and Commission of the acceptance by the Kingdom of Siam of the invitation to participate in the world's grain show to be held at Regina in 1925. According to advice received from C. Butler, assistant Canadian Government Trade Commissioner at Batavia, Java, the Ministry of Lands and Agriculture of Siam has decided to send an exhibit to Regina at the time of the 1925 world-wide event. The exhibit will take the form of a display of varieties of Siam best rice and glutinous rice. In addition it is highly probable that an officer of the agricultural ministry will visit Regina in charge of the exhibit. The question is now under consideration by the ministry, according to Mr. Butler's communication.

With the acceptance by Siam of the invitation to take part in the world's grain show in 1925, the total number of countries already accepting the invitation of the organization reaches ten. A list which will form the exhibit of the Siam Kingdom at the world's grain exhibition and commission of the country, being the product of food and staple article of export. Over $75,000,000 worth of rice was exported from Siam last year to different parts of the world, some 30,000,000 acres of land being devoted to rice cultivation.

Number Of Farms Reduced

United States Census Bureau Records Decrease Of 2.3 Per Cent. Since 1920

A reduction in five years of 73,763, or 1.3 per cent, in the number of farms in the United States was reported by the census bureau on the total number of countries already accepting the invitation of the organization reaches ten. A list which will form the exhibit of the Siam Kingdom at the world's grain exhibition and commission of the country, being the product of food and staple article of export. Over $75,000,000 worth of rice was exported from Siam last year to different parts of the world, some 30,000,000 acres of land being devoted to rice cultivation.

Both in number and in quality the situation in Canada as regards hunting or jumping horses is improving. It was stated by Lieut.-Col. Highway Expenditures

Saskatchewan's Appropriation Of Ten Millions For The Year 1926 Now Nearly Exhausted

Saskatchewan's 1926 highway appropriation of $10,000,000 virtually has been expended as the programme submitted and piloted through the legislature by Hon. A. C. Stewart, Minister of Highways, nears completion. Of the $10,000,000 voted by the House at the last session, $9,277,963 has been expended to date and the remainder will be exhausted on work to be done this fall, according to a statement issued by Mr. Stewart. In the amount expended is $500,000 for new bridges, $150,000 for ferries, and $20,000 in connection with relief road camps.

Canada Is Anxious For Penny Post Re-Establishment Throughout The Empire

Virtue In Soap

Found That a Liberal Use Teaches Boys Self-Respect In England

It is to the splendid advertisement of a firm (by a strange coincidence), soap manufacturers that we owe the sudden general awakening to the worldwide significance of soap. These advertisements brought to our notice a fact of the utmost value, hitherto overlooked. The fact was this: Soap teaches boys self-respect. Even though it ostensibly referred only to one kind of soap, I find it impossible to exaggerate the immediate and salutary effect this announcement had upon the national attitude. Grubby boys throughout the country were sternly commanded to wash; boys who had already washed were sent to wash again. A wave of self-respect began to sweep over the youth of England. Legions of untalented but appreciative scoundrels sat down and recorded, in letters to the manufacturers concerned, their grateful amazement at the way in which not only self-respect, but integrity, sterling worth, piety, benevolence, patriotism, and fidelity to animal and extraordinary mathematical ability began to show themselves in lads as soon as they began to wash with soap.—From G. K.'s Weekly.

Fifth Of Series Of Studies In Plant Diseases

One of the most useful publications which has been published by the Federal Department of Agriculture recently is the fifth in the series of studies in plant diseases being carried out under the direction of the Dominion Botanist. This study deals with "Control methods for diseases of cereal, forage and fibre crops." It contains the latest findings of the Dominion Research Laboratories of plant pathology at Winnipeg, Saskatoon and Edmonton. The subjects dealt with include not only general rules useful in the control and eradication of cereal diseases, but specific recommendations for the treatment of a wide variety of specific cereal diseases. The crops dealt with include wheat, oats, barley, rye, corn, millet, flax, manure, alfalfa, sweet clover and common clover. This circular, No. 123 New Series, is available without charge on application to the Publications Branch of the Department at Ottawa.

30,000,000 Acres Of Land Under Cultivation In The Province

Recent reports show that the Province of Saskatchewan has grown from 60,000 farms in operation with 2,000,000 acres in crop when the province was organized in 1905 to 118,000 farms with 30,000,000 acres under cultivation at the present time. Also, the province is now organized along agricultural lines; the wheat pool having 80,000 members while various other farmers' organizations are operating to the benefit of the producers.

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR ONE OF THESE BLENDS—THEY'RE BY FAR THE FINEST YOU CAN BUY AT THESE PRICES

What Does Your Work Mean To You?

In the current issue of a well known magazine there is an article, bearing the title "Do You Ever Get Off On the Wrong Foot?" which discusses the problems of people who at some stage in their career come to the conclusion that they are square pegs in round holes. In a word, that they do not fit; that they have made a mistake in the choice of their business occupation or professional calling; and, as a result, are not making the progress they feel they should make and their abilities entitle them to make.

On the other hand, a daily newspaper is at present running a series of short sketches of men who in their boyhood or early manhood had ambitions along certain lines, but circumstances, environment, fate, call it what you will, decided otherwise, and instead of being what in those other days they "wanted to be," they have achieved success in radically different walks of life.

In this present period of world-wide depression, a temporary period where we are for the first time feeling and suffering the real aftermath of the Great War, doubtless many people are asking themselves the question: "Have I got off on the wrong foot? Am I a square peg in a round hole?" Should I make a change, abandon the business, trade or profession in which I am or have been engaged and try something new and different?

Possibly at this time farmers particularly may be inclined to indulge in such questioning as they contemplate the many vicissitudes which agriculture has undergone during the past two years as a result of climatic conditions, marketing difficulties, and a selling price for their products below the actual cost of production. The present outlook may not look promising to them, any more than it does to the city wage-earner. The question, however, which both classes must consider is whether, after all, any change would be better.

For example, if the man engaged in agriculture really likes farming and a rural life, and that degree of independence resulting from the fact that he is his own boss, preferring these to the limitations of a salaried position in town or city, the paid servant of others, and breathing the air of congested centers of population, then he has not made a mistake; he is not a misfit. Nor is the city man in the wrong place if on his part the open air life and activities of the farm and the less strenuous life of rural communities makes no appeal to him.

Possibly in both city and country, and with men in all occupations and callings in life, some part at least of their dissatisfaction with their own condition is to be found in their failure to fully grasp all the opportunities of their present vocation.

In the magazine article with which reference has already been made, the story is told of a man in middle life who, dissatisfied with his position and the progress he was making, came to the parting of the ways. An orphan, forced to make his way at the age of thirteen, he took a humble position in a food commission warehouse. In course of time he became a salesman, acquired a family and a house worth four thousand dollars, and at forty-two was working long hours every day for forty dollars a week. An opportunity presented itself to become product manager in a newly organized business at fifty dollars a week, but he was required to invest two thousand in the business. He mortgaged his house to raise the money, and took on the new job. But the promise of the business was unkept, and the money was lost. He failed, with the result that this man lost his money and ruined his health by worry. He then took stock of "himself." He realized he knew a little about a whole lot of vegetables, but did not know everything there was to know about any one of them. So, on the advice of a friend, this man went back to his old job and worked two years more during which time he made close and expert study of one particular vegetable for which there was an all-year-round demand. He learned where the best varieties were grown and by whom; refrigerating methods; packing methods; costs; who bought that particular variety of vegetable; ways to use it; everything. Then he launched into business as a vegetable dealer, and in a very short time he was at one particular vegetable. Today he heads a huge and profitable business and is worth hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The point is just this: Is the dissatisfied agriculturist farming in any old way in haphazard fashion, sowing any kind of seed, good and clean or not; using any kind of scrub cattle, indifferent breeds of poultry, or other farm stock? Is the dissatisfied city artisan, or clerk, or business man, just drifting along, doing what comes to his hand, without giving much thought to the method of doing it? Is the carpenter, for instance, content to be merely a "saw and hammer" man instead of studying and striving to become efficient and an expert in his work? Is the man plodding along lines of least resistance but making no mental effort to study the requirements of his particular field and the needs, even the fads, of his customers?

In a word, are we treating our present occupations in life merely and solely as a means of physical existence in life, or are we finding some real pleasure and satisfaction in the work itself? If the former is our approach to our work we will, of course, be dissatisfied with it and with ourselves, and ultimate failure must come to us. If, on the other hand, the work itself means something to us, and we take a keen interest in it, study it and its possibilities, constantly adding to our knowledge, then our work will be a real result, leading to contentment and a reasonable measure of success.

While there are exceptions to the general rule, that general rule is that it is not so much the nature of the work in which we are engaged that counts, as our attitude towards that work which makes for dissatisfaction and failure on the one hand or satisfaction and ultimate success on the other hand.

The Aeroplane and Geodesy

Problem Of Survey Work In Remote Districts Has Been Solved

The aeroplane has solved one of the problems of the Geodesic Survey of Canada. In those districts which are traversed by neither roads nor railways, travel is slow and at times almost impossible. Obstruction is met everywhere in measuring the points in the great triangulation net which is gradually covering the whole of the Dominion. By means of the aeroplane most of these difficulties have been set aside.

UTTERLY WORN OUT

Women Weakened By Worry

"I don't want to worry, but I can't help it," said a woman recently when told to take things easy and not worry. It is the duty of every woman to save her strength. If she finds herself getting depressed, or feels utterly worn out; worries over trifles and frequently has nervous headaches, she will be wise to realize her nervous system needs attention. These pills not only build up the blood, but actually create new blood which feeds and strengthens the nerves and builds the cause of nervous disorders.

Nerves cannot always rest when they should, but every woman can maintain her strength by the help of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Start taking these Pills now and see how soon improvement will show by increased energy, keen appetite, strong, steady nerves and robust health. Winter Holiday Trips

Canadian Pacific Offers Special Inducements To The Winter Traveller

Sharp stimulus to winter travel in Western Canada this year is forecast by Canadian Pacific Railway officials in Winnipeg, who point out the contributing factors being the many special trains arranged to connect with special sailings to the Old Country for Christmas and New Year's. While this rail movement will be easier, there are also many interesting winter features in the west that annually bring thousands of easterners, Canadians and Americans, to the winter playground of the northwest. The Banff Carnival is now known all over the civilized world, and another western winter sporting event that has become firmly fixed on the calendar is the mid-winter golf tournament, sponsored by the Canadian Pacific Hotels. At Victoria, capital City of British Columbia.

This tournament, started in 1928, enters its third year next February, when, from February 23 to 28, a host of golfers will gather in the Pacific Northwest in quest of the Beatty Challenge trophy. The tournament is being held this season at the Oak Bay course of the Victoria Golf Club, where all-winter golf is in vogue. The feature attractions of Vancouver Island's evergreen playground.

As a special inducement to the winter travellers, low round trip fares have been named by the Company to Eastern Canada and Central States, commencing December 1st, and to the Pacific Coast during December, January and part of February. These tickets are considerably lower in price than the ordinary fare and bear a much longer limit.

These commissioners function under the Commercial Intelligence Service of the Canadian Government Department of Trade and Commerce. This department is designed to further the interests of Canadian trade in all parts of the world. The text contains a detailed report on trade and financial conditions in their respective countries, and lists the names of the manufacturers and others advised concerning opportunities for the sale of Canadian products. Canada's foreign trade in 1926 was $256 per capita, the highest in the world.

Russia Is Selling Soviets Take That Method To Raise Money For Treasury

Soviet dumping of wheat and other products abroad at a time when the supplies are urgently needed in Russia itself is in the nature of "tax" collection under the Russian system, says the Financial Post, which continues:

"In private Russia, the wheat taxation has no such meaning as Western minds attach to it. Holding private ownership to be unethical, the government itself is officially the owner of all property. Consequently, there is none for it to tax. Proclaiming private profits to be opposed to human welfare, it officially permits the accumulation of no incomes which might be taxed. It is obliged, therefore, to obtain its revenue from the actual products of the mines, forests, and farms which it operates or to take as taxes the produce of those who still operate privately—mainly the unassociated peasants. But since it cannot operate a treasury directly with wheat and lumber, it must sell these articles in the outside world.

"This is what it is doing, to the extent even of leaving its own people on the verge of starvation. Officially they are permitted to eat, but the people at home must buy the government, and the heavy purchases of machinery abroad mean that the people at home must be kept to the very lowest limit of supplies."

Turner Valley Oil

Seven Thousand Acres Definitely Proved As Large Producer Of Gas and Oil

Following a tour of the Turner Valley oil field, A. Beby Thompson, a member of the British Council of Petroleum Technologists, declared that 7,000 acres of that terrain had been definitely proved as a large producer of gas and oil. Production, since the beginning of drilling operations, amounted to 3,000,000 barrels of a value of $100,000, and the present rate of production being about 3,500 barrels per day from about 60 wells.

Old Milestone Found

Supposed To Indicate Distance From Chiappa, Italy, To Rome

Quite recently a most interesting discovery was made in Chiappa, Italy. During excavations there was brought to light an old marble milestone. On the stone could still be distinguished the marking of 553 miles and the name of Augustus Caesar. Presumably the stone indicated the distance from that spot to Rome, and formed part of the old road running between Rome and the Gallic countries, and known then as the Via Aurelia.

"Thank goodness then, that you didn't discover me before!"

"It is so awful—kissing me!" asked Nick.

"It would be awful kissing you good-bye," answered his wife demurely.

"For that," he said, putting his arm about her, "you shall have another!"

"Gee," he continued with mock severity, "we're downright silly. I wouldn't have believed we could be so silly. And I suppose you're right. We've sponged on Mr. Bartlett long enough. Say, let's ask the old man up to supper. It would tickle him to death."

So Simon Bartlett was their first guest. He arrived panting, after the hard pull up the foot path that led from the wood road.

"Take this kindly, ma'am," he said, sinking down breathless on the porch, and mopping the dampness from his brow with a huge handkerchief. Although evening was approaching he carried his umbrella. Indeed, he seemed almost afraid to give it up when Gay offered to relieve him of it.

"Never travel without it, ma'am," he repeated. "Shouldn't hardly feel at home if it went along. Well, well, this looks real cozy, doesn't it? It's a place for my old woman, ma'am. Before I got so confounded fleshy. Time was when I could come up that path without battin' an eyelash, same as Nick here. A good boy, Nick. You didn't make a mistake when you picked him out."

"She didn't do the picking," laughed Nick. "I picked her, and then I guided her time to think about it."

"Well, well," chuckled the old man. "You take care that she don't regret it. By gorry! this ain't any chance your honeymoon, is it?"

Gay blushed, but Nick only laughed at their guests' embarrassing interrogation.

"We hadn't been married ten minutes when you met us, Mr. Bartlett." In an instant the old man was serious.

"You ain't runnin' away from your folks, be ye?" he asked soberly. "If you might say, always bein' sure o' my old woman, and signin' the pledge at twelve year old. Do I smell chowder, ma'am?"

"That sounds," laughed Gay, "like a gentle hint for supper. Shall we have it here on the porch?"

"That would suit me fine, ma'am. Me and my old woman used to eat here summer evenin's. Sometimes the hermit thrushes would sing for us. We called 'em our orchestra; and a darn right prettier music it was than what comes out o' the brass band over to Miller's Falls."

"Well agreed to that," said Nick. "You sang the night we were married. I told Gay it was a bridal chorus, sung specially for us."

"Appy I don't doubt it was, sonny," said the old man gently. "You run along now and help your missus dig up supper. You don't need to make company o' me; and I ain't one o' them b'lieves a man's place is on the front porch while his wife is readin' with the kitchen stove or the dish pan."

"Nor am I," said Nick, rising to obey. "You can ask Gay if I'm not a champion dish-washer."

It was a festive little supper, and Simon Bartlett pronounced his bestest a "first class cook," a tribute that Gay's cheeks, and a proud light on her husband's eyes, later when the two had been drenched in moonlight, they escorted Mr. Bartlett home.

"I've had a real good time," he said in parting. "Don't know as I've enjoyed anything more since my old woman went away. Stay along here ever you'd a mind to, but not a minute longer. I know how that. Once I had that longin' to see new things myself; but it's long years now since home seemed the best place for me. Gorry! if it want for all the things I've got to remember, I'd almost 'ave you, startin' out with the whole life before you. Goodnight, youngsters; and don't you forgettin' the good advice I give you."

"He said that," but Nick said soberly: "I shan't forget, sir."

"Nor shall I," Gay promised. She had a gentle hand on the old man's cheek. "I'll make Nick happy if I won't be because I forgot your warnings, and—I thank you."

"You're a good girl," he answered, patting her hand before releasing it. "You've given a lonely old man a happy evening."

"What a dear he is," said Gay, as they rode away. She felt suddenly reluctant to leave this kind old friend, but before she could say a word, he showed no welcoming lights.

Nick looked at her tenderly.

"You're something of a dear yourself, Gay. I could see that you took old Simon's heart by storm. Poor old chap! His wife's been dead for years, but he always speaks as if she had just left him. I'm glad they've got to have him up here for supper."

"It was you who thought of it," said Gay. "You think of everybody. She moved closer, and he put her cheek against his arm."

"Well?" Nick questioned, as no words seemed forthcoming.

"I've been wonderin'..."

"Wondering what?" he looked at her amusedly. "It seems to be difficult."

"It is.—Nick—I think you're wonderful!"

"Is that all?" Nick queried, with a slow smile.

"No. There's a problem been troubling me all evening. I can't face it alone, and—"

"Of course you can't—you've got me to face it with! But, my dear girl, I thought it was to escape such things as problems that we came away. Anyhow, we won't face it till we're back at camp. I'm going to take you the long way round. It's a glorious night to ride."

It was so glorious that they forgot the night of time. It was late when they reached the cabin, but despite the hour they sat down together on the porch, and Nick reached for his wife's hand, twisting the slender wedding ring round her finger.

"You've guessed this was my mother's haven't you? She told me to keep it I found the one girl in the world. I used to think I'd never use it, but for years and years I've been settin' down for me! I was to be a wagoner, you know—traverse the north and conquer the world. I was, what I said was, even a week ago! She stirred uneasily.

"And aren't you now?"

"My dear, how can I be a kid? I'm a married man!"

He was laughing; but Gay said soberly: "But—but I like having you, Nick. You're only twenty-one. It—it's that."

"Gee," said Nick. "I see I'd forgotten the problem. Trott it out, you lady, and we'll go to it; though you've no moral right to produce the abominable thing on a quest for freedom."

Songs Of The People

Passing Of The Popular Song

Previous Decades Is Noted

Has any durable and widely sung popular song been written in the last decade—anything comparable in the range of its appeal and the length of its life to such ditties of our parents as "The Ball Was Over," "The Man That Broke the Bank," "The Girl In The Red Coat," suggested to the Manchester Guardian by the plight of the sheet-music publishing business in New York, where, according to the chairman of the Music Publishers' Protective Association of America, a loss of some $5,000,000 has been made on sheet-music sales since the advent of the "talkies." It is an imposing figure, but the real loss is in the "talkies" came to accelerate it. The mechanization of music has for many years been killing the popular song of the old sort. The machines may be fed, and an over-production of standardized raw material is nowdays available to feed them. No age has had more music available than ours. It can be turned on in any one almost as simply as the water tap. Yet none has been so barren in producing songs of the people.

Many children die from the assaults of worms, and the first cure of mother should be to see that their children are free from these pests. A vermifuge that can be depended on is Miller's Worm Powders. They are a mild but a health-giving medicine, and a remedy for many of the ailments that beset the infant, relieving them and endangering their lives.

Matrimonial Ad In Japanese Paper Is Very Tempting

The matrimonial advertisement has recently been introduced into the translation of a quaint specimen. It reads:

"I am a beautiful woman. My curly hair is like a gentle wave. My figure is supple as a reed, and my skin soft as silk. I possess a large enough fortune to go safely through life at the side of my beloved. If I have my good fortune to meet an honorable man, well-bred and intelligent, I would remain faithful and obedient to him, and would happily share with him eternal repose in a tomb of rose-colored marble."

All very tempting—even to the offer of the rose-colored marble tomb, which would appeal to the Japanese rather than to the British mentality.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali will neutralize all the excess acid in much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this most pleasant way. A small bottle is sufficient to show its merit.

FALLING OFF IN MIGRATION FROM BRITISH ISLES

London, England.—There has been a pronounced decline in the number of assisted migrants who have left the shores of Britain for the Dominions in the last four years, according to figures submitted to the overseas settlement committee of the Imperial Conference. The less attractive economic conditions to be found in the Dominions in the last year or so was largely blamed for the drop.

State-aided migration to Canada in 1927 totalled 27,615 persons, while 29,136 went to Australia and 4,446 to New Zealand. Last year 21,615 migrants went to Canada, 11,525 to Australia and 1,849 to New Zealand. Of the three countries, it will be seen that Canada suffered least by the drop. It is explained further, that 37,000 additional persons went to Canada in 1929 under the temporary fare rate, which really reveals an acceleration rather than a decrease in the Canada-way traffic.

Embargo On War Munitions

President Hoover Will Not Permit Shipment Of Arms To Brazilian Rebels

Washington, D.C.—President Hoover has issued a proclamation placing an embargo on the shipment of munitions of war to Brazil except for the use of Federal troops at Rio de Janeiro. Gurgel do Amaral, Brazilian ambassador, and lined up the United States Government definitely against the rebel forces in the southern republic. Until this proclamation was issued the Brazilian revolutionaries were free to procure arms and munitions from the United States from private manufacturers. So far as the state department is advised, however, no shipments have actually been made to the rebels.

While Secretary Stimson described the Brazilian ambassador as optimistic, the fact that his government requested an embargo on the shipment of arms to the rebels was generally taken as indicating that the authorities at Rio de Janeiro recognize that the uprising constitutes a grave threat to the Federal Government.

DISCUSS QUESTION OF VITAL MOMENT TO PROVINCES

London, England.—Before the Imperial Conference commences tomorrow Lord Stanley, Lord High Chancellor, Canada, is making a stand for provincial rights.

Hon. Maurice Dupre, Canadian Solicitor-General, supporting the views held by Premier Ferguson and Taschereau, on Ontario and Quebec, respectively, hold the provinces must first be consulted before any amendments can be made to the British North America Act. The question arose in the consideration by the committee of the recommendations of the 1929 conference on operations of dominions laws. In effect, the Canadian delegate's stand pursued to its logical conclusion would lead to an interprovincial conference or some other mode of consultation before final action on the report of the 1929 conference.

The 1929 conference, composed of legal experts from the various dominions, was a belated aftermath of the status resolutions of the 1926 Imperial Conference. The 1929 gathering studied the conflicts in Dominion legislation and finally recommended an Imperial act be passed nullifying the effect of the Colonial Laws Validity Act.

Critics of these recommendations claim to go further than the repeal of the Colonial Validity Act; that in effect they authorize an amendment to the Canadian constitution would lead to an interprovincial conference. Premiers Ferguson and Taschereau both took the ground that as Canadian confederation was a pact between the provinces, the constitution cannot be amended without the consent of the provinces. Hon. Maurice Dupre is understood to be supporting this view in the committee deliberations.

How the provinces are to be consulted has not yet been determined. There is a belief that the principle and precedent involved in the matter are of greater importance than the actual issues at stake.

CANADA TO BE REPRESENTED AT CHICAGO SHOW

Chicago, Ill.—Canada is again expected to make an impressive showing in the International Grain and Hay Show, to be held at Chicago, November 29 to December 6, in connection with the International Live Stock Exposition. Already entries have been received, some from the most distant parts of the earth. Three nations of wheat have arrived from New South Wales, according to the management.

People here, having made the first entry in the rye and wheat classes of the exposition this year goes to a Saskatchewan grower, James A. Paue of Langham. In the rye classes of the 1929 exposition, Fair's sample ranked high.

Other successful Canadian exhibitors at the last exposition, who are expected to take part this year, include George Avery of Kelso, Sask., who has reserved championship on a two-year-old barley of the 1929 show; W. G. Gibson of near, B.C., and William Darrrough of Laura, Sask., who had champion and reserve champion respectively in the case of Joseph H. E. Smith of Wolf Creek, Alberta, and S. Lacombe of Wilef, Manitoba, who ranked first with samples of a number of Spring Wheat; Eddie J. Shank of Athabasca, Alberta, who won a blue on an early oats sample, and many other provincial exhibitors, whose samples placed creditably high in the competition.

A well known Canadian, Dr. G. I. Christie, president of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Ont., and a director of the International Live Stock Exposition, is in charge of the International Grain and Hay Show, through him Canada will be invited to send a judge of the small grain classes. The Grain and Hay Show will also have the active support of the various Canadian seed growers' associations as well as the provincial departments of agriculture.

Added incentive for Canadian farmers to participate in the 1930 International Grain and Hay Show will be generous cash prizes offered to Canadian winners by the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers' Limited; the Canadian National Railways; the Canadian Pacific Railway, and the governments of Quebec, Ontario, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. To the Alberta winning a grand championship in either wheat or oats, the Calgary Board of Trade offers a round trip railway ticket and sleeping car fare to the 1931 International Grain and Hay Show.

B. H. Heide, secretary of the International Live Stock Exposition at Chicago, says: "Growers should not be discouraged from taking part this year because of possible decreased value of their samples owing to new unfavorable growing conditions last summer, since the situation was general to the North America continent. I believe the general reflected in most all of the samples submitted."

N. Z. BUTTER WAS SUBJECT TO DUMPING DUTY

Vancouver, B.C.—A dump duty of 40 cents per 46-pound box was levied on New Zealand butter by the 38,000 boxes of New Zealand butter which arrived on the Niagara on October 11.

This was in addition to the regular duty of one cent under the old treaty tariff, which expired on October 1, and represented approximately $16,000 added import on the 2,000,000 pounds of butter in the big shipment which arrived just in time to avoid the new duty of 8 cents a pound.

Local butter importers who have conferred with Hon. E. B. Ryckman, Minister of National Revenue, during his visit here, explain that the dump had been levied when it was discovered that the invoice price of the butter was four-fifths of a cent less than the fair Canadian market price in New Zealand at the time of shipment, as advised by the Canadian Trade Commissioner in New Zealand. Under the new dumping clause the customs department may assess an extra duty equal to the difference between invoice price and fair market price in the country of origin, but only up to 50 per cent. of the fair market price. The price is set by the Minister of National Revenue. In this case the dump duty was exactly the difference between invoice and fair market price in New Zealand.

At a conference with the minister it was decided that the Canadian Trade Commissioner in New Zealand will advise the customs department of the fair market price there on the day of shipment, so that valuation for duty may not be affected by possible market fluctuations while the butter is in transit.

Grain Grading High

Northern Wheat Grades Good Average Above The Rains

Prince Albert, Sask.—Grain, threshed before the blizzard, is grading high at local elevators contrary to expectations of some of the most optimistic. At the Pool elevator a number of loads of wheat threshed since the rains have been marketed and loads from well-threshed elevators are grading No. 2 Northern and No. 3 with little and in some cases no evidence of sprouting.

Elevator officials estimate the average has been No. 3 and that this will be maintained after threshing is resumed. Garner is holding up exceptionally well, this species averaging No. 2 Northern. Wheat of other varieties, it is estimated, will be assured of a No. 2 average.
